

Sometimes in the middle of the life God gives us a fairytale.

Debbie Diane White was born on May 7, 1957 to Edwin and Renate Cochran in Germany while her father served in the United States Army, she passed away on July 24, 2020 at the age of 63. After receiving dual citizenship Debbie chose to reside in the United States of America.

Debbie was a high school graduate of Douglas McArthur High School and also a graduate of Trinity University both located in San Antonio, Texas.

Those who had the pleasure of knowing Debbie, had their life filled with her love, Debbie loved life simple and simply loved life!!

Debbie loved all of Gods creations, all creatures large or small. She had a passion for music and she could be seen singing and dancing on a daily basis. She had a love for books and intensely collected thousands and thousands of volumes.

Debbie's favorite holiday was Christmas. Every single year she would give thousands of gifts, wrap them herself, giving freely and expecting nothing in return. To Debbie family is forever, and her family never doubted her love.

Debbie is preceded in death by her parents and so many people whom she loved with all her heart. She leaves behind her husband Robert that loves her deeply, her parents Joann & Boyd White. Brothers; Danny (Sheri), Dale (Tiffany), Daniel (Rhonda), sisters; Margo (David), Diane (Danny Lee), and Cheryl (Sam). As well as a grieving family filled with aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews, step children, step grandchildren, and thousands of friends which she also considered family.

As per Debbie's wishes, partial cremated remains were placed at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery. The remaining cremated remains are to be scattered throughout her favorite places which include Key West, Savannah, Prince Edward Island, Niagara Falls, Graceland, Bridges of Madison County as well as other chosen locations.

Debbie will be extremely missed, while she rests eternally in Heaven, leaving behind her entire family that will forever miss her.
