

Edith Faye Dobranich left her body on earth and slipped quietly into her heavenly reward on Sunday, July 28, 2019.

Edith, aka Edie and SugarPie, was born in San Antonio, Texas on October 7, 1930 to Arthur and Edith Cron. Her father was in the Army/Air Corp and on December 5, 1949, Edith became one of the first women to join the military service, where she stayed until she met her husband of over 60 years, James Joseph Dobranich, who predeceased her on September 13, 2012.

Edith and James were married on January 13, 1951 in Plattsmouth, Nebraska while stationed at Offutt AFB. After military life, the couple retired to Canyon Lake, Texas in 1968, with their five children, James (Speedy) Dobranich, Kathleen (Kathy Dobranich) Trujillo, Marie (Dobranich) Talbott, Sharon (Dobranich) Harmon, and Diana (Dobranich) Vogel. Those five children blessed her with 10 grandchildren: Brandon Stewart, Robert Stewart, Travis Shaw, Kristie (Talbott) Renner, Kyle Talbott, Ashley (Harmon) O'Connor, Shelby (Harmon) McCollister, Whitney Harmon, Jeremy Vogel and Hunter Vogel who, in turned, blessed her with twelve great-grandchildren: Madison and Sawyer Vogel, Payne and Phynlee Renner, Kylie, Audrey and Sadie Talbott, Ryland and Dylan O'Connor, Harmon and Joey McCollister, and Piper Harmon. Edith loved and was so proud of her children and their spouses - Janet Dobranich, Fidel Trujillo, Richard Talbott, Steven Harmon and Michael Vogel; the spouses of her grandchildren are Reagan Renner, Gennie Talbott, Karen Vogel, Chad McCollister and Sean O'Connor.

Edith was always very involved and, during the Vietnam era, when stationed with her husband, notably in Guam and the Philippines, she was a volunteer in the Red Cross, serving as a Gray Lady, volunteering in the Hospitals, Clinics, Base Libraries and, later in life, was a member of the American Doll Guild and the Republican Women's Association.

Before her husband's death in 2012, they were both inducted into the USAF Security Forces Museum at Lackland AFB, where a newspaper article/picture, from either 1949 or 1950, of her modeling the new Uniforms for the Women, was posted. The Museum has since closed, but that was always a very special and proud moment for Edith.

On December 28, 2012, Edith did one of the hardest things a mother can do when she survived the passing of her middle daughter, Marie Ann (Dobranich) Talbott, with whom, we are sure, has taken her hand to welcome her to life eternity in the arms of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.
