

Orrell Lee Patrick, Jr. was born October 24, 1942, in Medford, Oregon. He was the only son of Orrell Lee Patrick, Sr. and June Moise Patrick. A resident of San Antonio for over thirty years, he was an outstanding husband, father, pa, and landman.

After serving in the Navy from 1963 to 1968, Lee graduated from The University of North Texas with a Degree in Business. His career thrived within Sage Energy in San Antonio, where he committed his work to them for over 30 years. Lee was the President of the SAAPL and was greatly admired among his fellow landmen.

In 1986, Lee met the love of his life, Mary Ault Patrick. They were married and joined their families on February 20, 1988. Together they raised Sara, Leslie, Katie, and Kelly; they were later blessed with addition of their two children, Sammi and David. Lee and Mary built their home in Churchill Estates, successfully growing their roots there for over 30 years. The house is full of memories playing basketball, swimming, competing in board games, watching movies, and enjoying Lee's boisterous laugh. He shared his passion for the San Antonio Spurs, basketball, karate, golf, sports, coaching, and faith with his family.

Lee was described as a natural leader. An avid basketball player in high school, he dreamed of becoming a coach. Although he never attained this as a career, he spent many years coaching for his children. It was one of his greatest joys, and he was exceptional at it.

His leadership and diligence shone, not only through his family, but through his faith. After attending seminary school, Lee was very well versed in Scripture. Having memorized so much of the Bible, he was always available to comfort or counsel others through God's Word. Lee understood the value of faith and worked persistently to instill Christ's words into the foundation of his family. A distinguished spiritual leader, Lee was always the first to stand up and lead a prayer at gatherings. He was also often called to pray for those hurting or in need. He communicated the Gospel to others as a leader of many Bible study groups.

Tall and handsome, with beautiful blue eyes and the most impressive mustache, one of his best features was his laugh. Described as a "happy roar," it was contagious and could instantly brighten the darkest of rooms. Lee was strong, steady, and loved Jesus with his whole heart. His greatest desire was to be a good husband, father and grandpa. He not only met his goal, he surpassed it. His steady strength, wisdom, love, and faith live on through the legacy of his family. He is survived by his wife Mary, his daughters Sara Reimer and her family, Leslie Dominguez and her family, Katie Patrick and her son, Kelly Koch and her family, Sammi Patrick, and his son David Patrick. In addition, he leaves behind 13 grandchildren ranging in age from 2 to 21.

Lee's funeral will be held at Fort Sam, with date and time determined by the Honor Guard. It will be for family and close friends only. Funeral Caring USA will be planning the services. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to K-Love Radio or Four Winds Bible Church. Lee was very loved and will be greatly missed!
